

ABSTRACT

An MgO layer (8) including an MgO crystal causing a cathode-luminescence emission having a peak within a range from 230nm to 250nm upon being excited by electron beams is provided in a position facing a discharge cell (C) formed in the discharge space between the front glass substrate (1) and the back glass substrate (4).